

The English Ivy is No Longer Welcome
English Ivy Removal Event
Monday, August 21, 2023
9 am to 12 noon

English Ivy came to the US as early as 1727)! In addition to killing trees, serves as a reservoir for bacterial leaf scorch, a disease in maples, oaks, and elms. (Univ. of Maryland Extension). It has more than worn out its welcome! Forest Conservation Area #9 in Park Retreat subdivision is overrun with English Ivy and it must go! Volunteers are needed to help remove the ivy. Feel free to come late and/or leave early. Refreshments provided! Volunteer hours given for this project.

103 Natalie Lane,
Millersville, MD

Ample parking.

Follows signs to site
(2 minute walk).

For more information, contact Andrea Weir.

andreawei@msn.com